CLAIMS:

1. A surface computer comprising:

an address generator for generating an address for adjusting surface region data concerning at least a storage region; and a concurrent computer, provided at a subsequent stage of said address generator, having a plurality of unit computers.